

everyone can be so chill

all the time.

We pride ourselves on being chill, but can we be real for a second? Sometimes being chill is the most useful things my mom ever told me was this we always judge our insides by